Observations

The proposed calculations and analyzes were carried out using the following information sources: Eurostat, ODEADOM, European Commission, FAO, Info Banane, CIRAD-FruiTrop, French customs, US Customs, UK TradeInfo, Trademap, Sopisco, World Bank, US Bureau of Labor Statistics, European Central Bank, XE, TRACES, Magap, ACORBANEC, Banastat, Rosstat, RNM (France), CTIFL, FranceAgriMer, TWMC, etc.

Certain data series, notably wholesale or green prices, may present differences depending on the sources used (example: European Commission wholesale prices and RNM). They may also vary from one yearbook to another, with data providers making corrections or adjustments after publication.

The evolving scope of the European Union was taken into account: 12 to 15 members from 1995, enlargement to 25 members between 2004 and 2006, to 27 members between 2007 and 2013, to 28 members from 2014, then to 27 members since 2020 (Brexit). From 1990, reunification of Germany (integration of the Eastern Landers). For Eurostat, before 1994, the data includes plantains and dessert bananas.

Discover the main figures for the global banana economy in this new opus of the “banana” statistics yearbook, the result of collaboration between ODEADOM and CIRAD. This document is available in paper format and for free download on odeadom.fr and fruitrop.com

The 2023 version of the banana statistics yearbook is published by the Cirad-Persyst UR-GECO (Markets News and Innovations Service) for ODEADOM.

Note 1: for EU members, Cavendish imports from third countries only, not counting intra-Community trade or European produce supplies.

Note 2: differences between import and export totals result from re-exports between non-producer countries (intra-EU trade for example), and the experimental nature of this work.

(in €/kg per week | sources: RNM, Ined, Cirad)

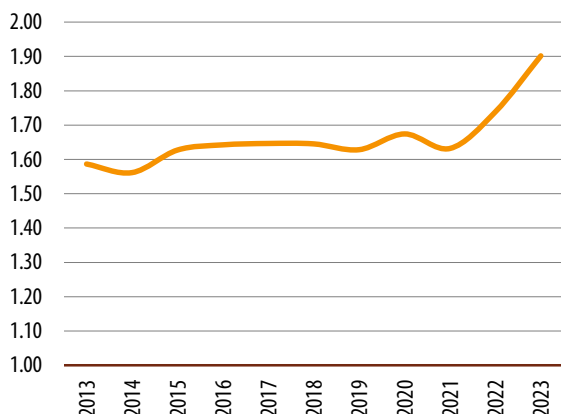

Methodological note:

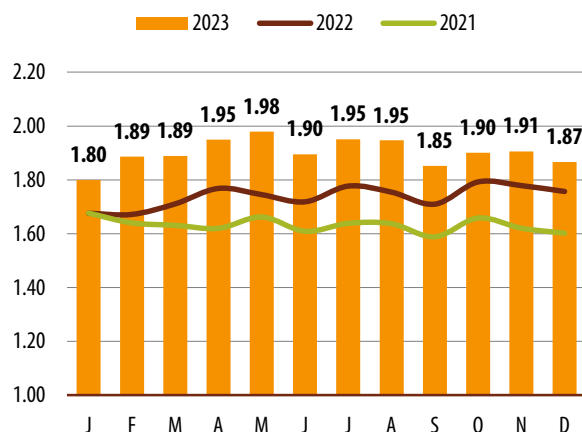

The AIB Indicator is calculated every week by CIRAD from data collected by the Market News Network (Franceagrimer / RNM) on wholesale markets spread across the entire national territory in mainland France. The Indicator is made up of two elements: the average price at the wholesale stage in week W (banana – all categories – all origins – excluding organic farming) and the Olympic average of weekly wholesale prices over the last 5 years (example: for 2024, average 2019 to 2023). Both elements are denominated in €/kg excluding tax. The indicator is published the week following the listing on the AIB website.
